9 March 2015

The market is set to become a permanent home for vintage lovers, fashion trendsetters and newcomers on the fashion scene.

Aspiring designers and fashion lovers now have access to a new platform of apparel with the launch of Prime Dubai Designer Market, a monthly community event which provides an opportunity to sell and buy pre-loved high-end and vintage wear.

Held on the second Saturday of each month in Beach Park Plaza Centre, the market is set to become a permanent home for vintage lovers, fashion trendsetters and newcomers on the fashion scene.

The monthly event, next taking place on March 14, will also be an opportunity for Dubai's rising young designers to showcase their collections and talent.
